Point at one bar, not the whole chart.

A chart slide usually has one number that matters. `_focus: mark 3` names that bar, wedge or funnel band. `_focus: series 2` names one line. The rest of the chart recedes, and the look survives PDF and PPTX.

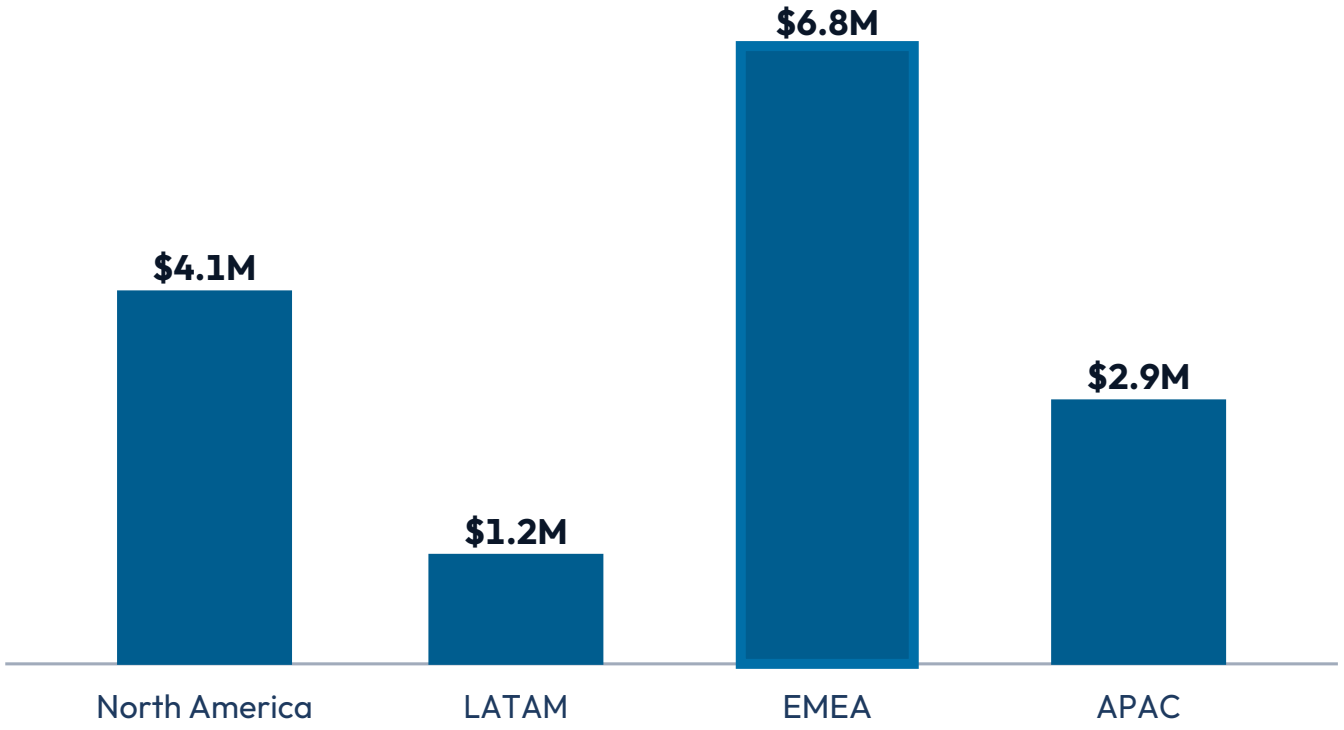

The chart already knows its marks. Now the deck can name one.

Every chart stamps each mark with its place. `_focus` reads that address, so there is nothing to tag by hand, and the same line works on every chart that has marks.

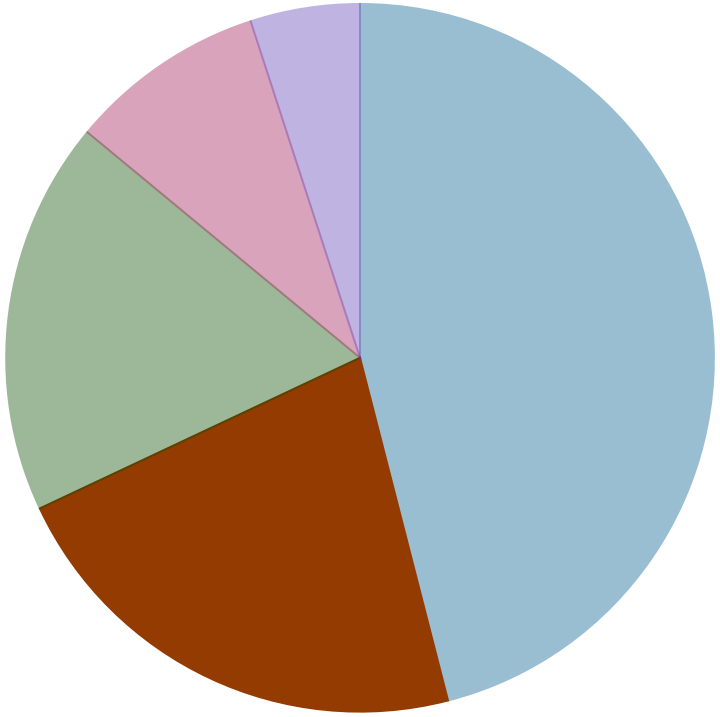

EMEA is where the quarter was won.

`ring` keeps every bar at full strength and edges the one that matters.

_focus: mark N · _focus: series N · _focusStyle: ring

One line names the mark.

Ordinals count from 1, in the order the list is written. A slide with no chart ignores the axis, and the linter flags a misspelled one.
