decision

The verdict slide — one chosen path, named explicitly.

The decision slide names the chosen path.

THE PICK, STATED PLAINLY.

The chosen option leads with the verdict treatment and the reason it won, in one breath.

THE ROAD NOT TAKEN.

The alternative keeps its honest case — a decision against a straw man persuades no one.

banner-tag headlines each card with its camp.

DECIDE

The banner carries the stance; the body carries the reason.

RECORD

Use when the slide is the decision log's public face.

A verdict can carry two full arguments, no more.

THE CHOSEN PATH, FULLY ARGUED.

At the hard budget the winning card states the call, the strongest reason, and the accepted cost in two sentences — everything else belongs in the appendix.

THE ALTERNATIVE, FULLY RESPECTED.

The losing card may run just as long; a verdict earns trust precisely when the rejected option is shown at its strongest and still loses.

When NOT to reach for decision.

No clear chosen path

If the cards don't resolve to a single verdict, the slide is back to being a comparison. Use `compare-prose` or `split-compare`; reserve decision for the resolved call.

Long body per card

Each card is one sentence of rationale. Paragraphs belong on the comparison slide upstream, not on the verdict slide.

Generic heading

The h2 carries the decision verb — Build, not buy. Adopt the framework. Pause the rollout. A heading like Next steps wastes the focal real estate.
