A fix demo

The deck's spectrum, and the slide's own say

`spectrum: duo` is the deck-wide default. An explicit per-slide bar wins over it.

A plain slide carries the deck's duo bar

- Nothing on this slide asks for another bar.
- The gradient above is the deck's style.

An accent slide keeps its single stripe

- `accent` signals "this is the point".
- The bar above is the solid accent, not the duo gradient.

A pass keeps its green

- `tone-pass tone-edge` recolors the bar with the tone.

A fail keeps its red

- Status is information. A gradient cannot say "fail".

A tone-edge with no tone keeps the duo bar

- With no semantic tone there is nothing to recolor, so the deck's style stays.
