When NOT to reach for kpi.

Decorative pills without status semantics

The pills read as status, not freeform tags. Status color is assigned by each KPI's row position within the modifier — the engine never reads the pill text — so reserve them for the status vocabulary the position implies (`On plan`, `At risk`, `Breaching`, `Compliant`, `Remediating`). Arbitrary labels land a color that has nothing to do with the words.

More than four KPIs in attention or spotlight

`attention` highlights the metric that needs the room; `spotlight` monumentalizes one number. Past four KPIs the visual hierarchy collapses — split into two slides.

No targets, no trends

If the KPIs carry only current values, the slide is a stats row, not a kpi dashboard. Use stats and reclaim the room.

`stats` — metric row without targets or status pills

`big-number` — a single number is the whole argument

`split-panel` — one KPI with a paragraph of supporting prose

`progress` — completion percentages across parallel workstreams

`timeline-list` — milestones in time, not metrics at a moment
