

Curated portrait type.

Three curated font scales — landscape,
square, portrait — selected per slide.

Not one landscape scale stretched by a multiplier. A board member reads this with their spectacles on, not squinting.

The body copy should breathe.

Every role keeps its hierarchy in the tall frame, because the portrait scale is designed, not magnified.

- The lead point reads at presentation distance, full width of the column.
- A supporting point sits a step quieter but never collapses to fine print.
- A third closes the thought without crowding the frame.
