GRANT REPORT · YEAR 2 OF 2

Bridgeway Workforce

Two years and $750K later, more adults are in healthcare careers than we promised.

The grant funded a two-year run to train and place Dayton adults in healthcare jobs.

The Hartwell Foundation's $750,000 grant ran July 2024 through June 2026. It funded the Bridgeway Healthcare Career Track — recruiting, training, certifying, and placing un- and under-employed adults into entry-level clinical roles.

- Goal: enroll 200 adults, certify them, place 75% in living-wage jobs.
- This report covers the full grant period against those commitments.

THE WAGE STORY BEHIND THE PLACEMENTS

$19,400

average annual earnings gain per placed graduate, measured one year after hire.

Recruitment reached the neighborhoods the grant prioritized.

We committed to drawing enrollees from Dayton's three highest-unemployment ZIP codes. Community partners — two churches, the public library, and the county jobs center — drove the bulk of qualified referrals.

- 64% of the 218 enrollees came from the target ZIPs, ahead of our 50% goal.
- 71% were women; 58% were parents supporting at least one child.

OF THOSE ENROLLED ON PLAN AUDITED

One employer partner stalled, and one cohort ran small.

We promised ten employer partners and landed eight; a regional system paused hiring during a merger. Our winter 2025 cohort enrolled 41 against a 55-seat plan after a transit-route cut.

- We backfilled placements through the eight active partners — no graduate went unplaced.
- We restored cohort size in spring once a shuttle stipend was added.

We are requesting a no-cost extension and a Year-3 renewal.

The model works: 218 enrolled, 81% placed, 88% of dollars reaching participants. We ask the Foundation to approve the no-cost extension through Q3 2026 and to consider a renewal scaling the program to Springfield.

- The extension closes out the final evaluation at no added cost.
- A renewal would add two career tracks and a second city.
